INDEX TO VOLUME IX

Abdominal small intestinal states embodying an hypothesis of the transmission of gastro-intestinal tension, x-ray evidence of, R. Walter Mills, 199.

Abscess, acute mediastinal, roentgen diagnosis of, Abstract, 198.

Absorption curves with copper filters for voltages up to 298 kv. (max.), 98.

ABSTRACTS:

Abrahamsen, H., Koehler's disease, especially with a view to its pathogeny, 136.

Åkerlund, Åke, The niche symptom in carcinoma ventriculi, 693.

Amreich, I. and Frank, O., The histological changes incident to radium and x-ray treatment of uterine carcinoma, 701.

Anschuetz and Hellmann, Results of irradiation after radical operation for carcinoma of the breast, 704.

Ashbury, Howard E. and Goldstein, Albert E., The combined examination of the urinary tract by the urologist and the roentgenologist, 133.

Auer, John and Witherbee, Wm. D., Studies on decreasing the reaction of normal skin to destructive doses of x-rays by pharmacological means, and on the mechanism involved, 134.

Bacmeister, The roentgen therapy of pulmonary and intestinal tuberculosis, 841.

Bailey, Harold and Quimby, Edith, The use of radium in cancer of the female generative organs, 453.

Bancroft, Frederick W., Acute haematogenous osteomyelitis, 266.

Barsony, Serration of the greater curvature of the stomach, 458.

Baumann, J. and Loeper, M., The action of pepsin on the motility of the large intestine, 696.

Béclère, A., What one may hope and what fear in the use of deep radiotherapy, 458.

Béclère and Faure-Beaulieu, Rectal insufflation with carbonic acid gas in radiologic exploration of the liver and spleen, 76.

Bingel, A., Encephalography: a method for the roentgenographic demonstration for the brain, 698.

Blumenthal, The therapeutic problem in cases of malignant tumors, 704.

Blumenthal and Tugendreich, Concerning a peculiar favorable influence of roentgen rays on a tumor of the skull, 458.

Boggs, R. H., The treatment of tuberculous adenitis by roentgen ray and radium, 73.

Bonn, Roentgen diagnosis of acute mediastinal abscess, 198.

Boussin and Brindeau, Roentgenography of the placental circulation, 698.

Bower, John O., Operating cystoscope in application of radium to cancer of the rectum following colostomy, 689.

Brindeau and Boussin, Roentgenography of the placental circulation, 698.

Broeman, C. J., Paper on radium, 699.

Bryant, John, Visceral adhesions and bands, 842.

Burrows, Arthur and Morrison, J. M. Woodburn, The treatment of exophthalmic goiter by radiations, 690.

Carman, Russell D., Limitations of roentgenologic diagnosis, 837.

Charlier, Radiotherapy of neuritis, 76.

Clark, J. G. and Keene, F. E., Irradiation in cancer of the female genito-urinary organs: results in 313 cases, 72.

ABSTRACTS:

Cole, H. N., Littman, S. and Sollmann, T., Study of mercuric injections by means of the roentgen ray, 71.

Cottentot and Halphen, Clinical cure of a spinocellular cancer of the larynx by roentgenotherapy, 691.

Craig, Stuart L., Murphy, Jas. B., Witherbee, Wm. D., Hussey, Raymond G. and Strum, Ernest, Effects of small doses of x-rays on hypertrophied tonsils and other lymphoid structures of the naso-pharynx, 134.

Degrais and Renon, Remote results of the radium treatment of myelogenous leukemia, 131.

Delherm and Thoyer-Rojat, Radiologic study of the great vessels of the base of the heart, 689.

Desmoulins, Méry and Détré, Radiodiagnosis of gangliopulmonary tuberculosis in the child, 838.

Détré, Méry and Desmoulins, Radiodiagnosis of gangliopulmonary tuberculosis in the child, 838.

Duncan, R. D., Uterine cancer: with observations and results of treatment with radium in more than 300 cases, 73.

Edling, Lars, On plastic and elastic means of application in radium therapy, 268.

Eiken, Th., Clinical examinations of a four hours' roentgen retention, 693.

Elving, H., Measures for promoting blood coagulation, 457.

Faure-Beaulieu and Béclère, Rectal insufflation with carbonic acid gas in radiologic exploration of the liver and spleen, 76.

Fowler, W. Frank, Benign gastric ulcer, in a known syphilitic: a résumé of the literature concerning the diagnosis of organic gastric syphilis, 265.

Frank, O. and Amreich, I., The histological changes incident to radium and x-ray treatment of uterine carcinoma, 701.

Freer, Otto T., Radium emanation in the upper air passages as compared to radium; a method of applying it with especial reference to laryngeal carcinoma, 700.

Gahwyler, M., Nontuberculous adenopathy of the bronchial glands and calcification of the same, 266.

Goldstein, Albert E. and Ashbury, Howard E., The combined examination of the urinary tract by the urologist and the roentgenologist, 133.

Graves, Wm. P., Present status of the treatment of operable cancer of the cervix, 264.

Haendly, Pathologic and anatomic results of radiotherapy, 457.

Haft, H. H. and Levy, I. H., The incidence of cecal tuberculosis with pulmonary tuberculosis, 835.

Halphen and Cottentot, Clinical cure of a spinocellular cancer of the larynx by roentgenotherapy, 691.

Hellmann and Anschuetz, Results of irradiation after radical operation for carcinoma of the breast, 704.

Heyerdahl, S. A., Radium treatment of changes in the thyroid gland, 135.

Treatment of malignant tumors with radium needles, 696.

The treatment of myoma uteri and menorrhagia with radium and roentgen rays, 697.

Hirsch, O., The radium therapy of hypophysial tumors, 131.

Hoffman, Radiotherapy of mammary carcinoma, 266.

Hoffman, K., Appendicitis in pregnancy, 697.

Huldschinsky, The treatment of rachitis with ultraviolet rays, 844.

ABSTRACTS:
Hussey, Raymond G., Murphy, Jas. B., Witherbee, Wm. D., Craig, Stuart L. and Strum, Ernest, Effects of small doses of x-rays on hypertrophied tonsils and other lymphoid structures, 134.
Ingraham, C. B., Impressions gained from the use of radium during the past year, 133.
Isaak, Multiple myelomata, 840.
Jackson, C., The symptomatology and diagnosis of foreign bodies in the air and food passages; based upon a study of 789 cases, 75.
Jaensch, The roentgen appearance of pneumokoniosis, especially its coarse form, 699.
Johnson, F. M. and Quick, Douglas A., Radium treatment of parotid tumors, 836.
Johnson, H. McC., X-ray in the diagnosis of prostatism, 131.
Jüngling, Treatment of sarcoma with roentgen rays, 841.
Keene, F. E. and Clark, J. G., Irradiation in cancer of the female genito-urinary organs: results in 313 cases, 72.
Kirklin, B. R., A plea for routine x-ray examination of the gall-bladder region in every chronic abdomen, 132.
Klason, T., Radiological methods for the determination of the conjugata vera, 694.
Kleinberg, S., Traumatic spondylolisthesis; report of two cases, 130.
Klewitz, Roentgen deep therapy of internal diseases, 841.
Kohlman, Wm., Radium in carcinoma of the uterus, 700.
Kohlmann, Clinical and roentgen diagnosis of multiple myelomata, 839.
Kolischer, G., Surgical diathermy and radiotherapy in cancer of the uterus, 838.
Kretschner, Herman L., Demonstration of bladder diverticula, 836.
Kreuzfuchs, S. and Schuhmacher, O., The topographical conditions of the interlobular fissures of the lungs, 694.
Kumer, L., The management of roentgen and radium ulcers, 842.
Lacassagne, Antoine, Experimental researches on the action of the beta and gamma rays of radium in the tissues following radium-puncture, 701.
Laederich and LeGoff, A case of painful gynecomastia cured by radiotherapy, 696.
LeGoff and Laederich, A case of painful gynecomastia cured by radiotherapy, 696.
Levy, I. H. and Haft, H. H., The incidence of cecal tuberculosis with pulmonary tuberculosis, 835.
Littman, S., Sollmann, T. and Cole, H. N., Study of mercuric injections by means of the roentgen ray, 71.
Loeper, M. and Baumann, J., The action of pepsin on the motility of the large intestine, 696.
Lower, W. E., Diverticula of the urinary bladder, 330.
Markovits, Concerning the influence of mesothorium on unicellular organisms, 455.
Matson, Ralph C., Diaphragm irregularities, 780.
Méry, Détré and Desmoulins, Radiodiagnosis of gangliopulmonary tuberculosis in the child, 838.
Moll, K., Deep roentgen therapy in surgical tuberculosis, 455.
Moller, P. Fleming, Roentgen examination of ileocecal tuberculosis with special reference to the so-called Stierlin sign, 693.
Morrison, J. M. Woodburn and Burrows, Arthur, The treatment of exophthalmic goiter by radiations, 690.

ABSTRACTS:
Murphy, Jas. B., Witherbee, Wm. D., Craig, Stuart L., Hussey, Raymond G. and Strum, Ernest, Effects of small doses of x-rays on hypertrophied tonsils and other lymphoid structures of the naso-pharynx, 134.
Nordentoft, S., Roentgen-ray treatment of brain tumors, 454.
Nuzum, Franklin R., The pathology and bacteriology of excised tonsils and the effect of x-ray therapy upon the bacterial flora of the tonsils, 838.
Palugyay, J., Traction-diverticulum of the esophagus shown by radioscopy, 267.
Pancoast, H. K. and Pendergrass, E. P., The close relationship of the erythrogenetic and leukogenetic functions of the bone marrow in disease. Report of a case of erythremia. The roentgen-ray treatment of erythremia, 779.
Panner, H. J., A peculiar characteristic metatarsal disease, 695.
Partsch, F., Effect of roentgen rays on liver and spleen, 454.
Pendergrass, E. P. and Pancoast, H. K., The close relationship of the erythrogenetic and leukogenetic functions of the bone marrow in disease. Report of a case of erythremia. The roentgen-ray treatment of erythremia, 779.
Peterson, Reuben, The x-ray after the inflation of the pelvic cavity with carbon dioxide gas as an aid to obstetric and gynecologic diagnosis, 701.
Pfahler, Geo. E., Radiotherapy in carcinoma of the breast, 837.
Pinch, A. E. Hayward, Annual Report London Radium Institute, 526.
Pincherle, Radiography of tumors of the left hypochondrium, 692.
Pirazzoli, The oculo-esophageal reflex as seen on the screen, 265.
Quick, Douglas A., The combination of radium and the x-ray in certain types of carcinoma of the breast, 129.
Quick, Douglas A. and Johnson, F. M., Radium treatment of parotid tumors, 836.
Quimby, Edith and Bailey, Harold, The use of radium in cancer of the female generative organs, 453.
Reinhard, W., Unique case of swallowed foreign body, 697.
Renon and Degrais, Remote results of the radium treatment of myelogenous leukemia, 131.
Rieder, Prevention of the general disagreeable symptoms after deep therapy (roentgen sickness), 843.
Rosenfeld, Arthur S., Idiopathic purpura with unusual features, 132.
Sachs, E., The diagnosis and treatment of brain tumors, 74.
Schmitz, H., The treatment of cancer of the uterus, 72.
Schuhmacher, O. and Kreuzfuchs, S., The topographical conditions of the interlobular fissures of the lungs, 694.
Schroder, Regarding the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis with roentgen rays, 843.
Sgalitzer, The roentgenologic demonstration of non-opaque foreign bodies in empyema cavities, 699.
Siegel, The technique of roentgen irradiation in malignant and benign hemorrhages, 835.
Sinding-Larsen, Chr. M. F., A hitherto unknown affection of the patella in children, 136.
Sippel and Taeckel, Concentration of the roentgen rays and increase of the dosisquotient by means of scattered radiations, 704.
Smithies, Frank, Diagnosis and clinical manifestations of cardiospasm associated with diffuse dilatation of the esophagus, 454.

ABSTRACTS:
Sollmann, T., Cole, H. N. and Littman, S., Study of mercuric injections by means of the roentgen ray, 71.
Spinelli, Contributions to the radium-roentgenological treatment of cancer of the uterus, 135.
Steiger, Pregnancy and labor after radiation of a myomatous uterus, 692.
Stone, Wm. S., The present position of radium in the study and treatment of uterine cancer, 264.
Strom, S., On the roentgen diagnostics of changes in the appendix and cecum, 136.
Strum, Ernest, Murphy, Jas. B., Witherbee, Wm. D., Craig, Stuart L. and Hussey, Raymond G., Effects of small doses of x-rays on hypertrophied tonsils and other lymphoid structures of the naso-pharynx, 134.
Taeckel and Sippel, Concentration of the roentgen rays and increase of the dosisquotient by means of scattered radiations, 704.
Taussig, Fred J., In what cases do uterine fibroids still require operative removal? 700.
Radiotherapy in malignant gynecologic diseases, 453.
Terry, Wallace L., Radium emanations in exophthalmic goiter, 696.
Thoyer-Rojat and Delherm, Radiologic study of the great vessels of the base of the heart, 689.
Tugendreich and Blumenthal, Concerning a peculiar favorable influence of roentgen rays on a tumor of the skull, 458.
Watson, W. W., Human actinomycosis, 836.
Westman, Axel, Blood changes by roentgen and radium treatments, 695.
Wetterer, Roentgen treatment of a few complications of gonorrhea, 842.
Windrath, A., A contribution to the question of roentgen therapy in pulmonary tuberculosis, 835.
Wissing, Ove, Comparative researches upon the motility of the stomach, 693.
Witherbee, Wm. D., Murphy, Jas. B., Craig, Stuart L., Hussey, Raymond G. and Strum, Ernest, Effects of small doses of x-rays on hypertrophied tonsils and other lymphoid structures of the naso-pharynx, 134.
Witherbee, Wm. D. and Auer, John, Studies on decreasing the reaction of normal skin to destructive doses of x-rays by pharmacological means, and on the mechanism involved, 134.
Zweifel, Radiotherapy of myomata and metropathies of the uterus, 840.
Achylia gastrica, the roentgenological aspects of, A. W. Crane, 527.
Acne vulgaris, 249.
Actinomycosis, human, Abstract, 836.
Action of radium and the x-rays on the blood and blood-forming organs, Isaac Levin, 112.
Acute catarrhal otitis media—one case, 474.
Adenomyomas, 660.
Allen, Bundy, A new radium applicator for the treatment of cataracts, 755.
Amberson, J. Burns, Serial roentgenographic observations of chronic pulmonary tuberculosis, 639.
Andrews, George C. and MacKee, George M., Time-saving devices for the roentgen-ray treatment of ringworm and favus of the scalp, 746.
Ante-operative radiation of carcinoma of the breast, Russell H. Boggs, 508.
Antrum, carcinoma of the, D. Crosby Greene, 591.
Apparatus, A new, Charles M. Ming, 370.
Appendicitis due to the presence of foreign bodies in the lumen of the appendix, John T. Murphy, 437.
Applicator for use with radium emanation, a new type of, Douglas Quick and F. M. Johnson, 53.
Auto-electronic phenomenon, physical features of the, 173.

Bader, Ellis R., Osgood-Schlatter's disease, 623.
Baker, Charles Frederick, Report of an unusual foreign body in the arm, 727.
Barclay, A. E., On the function of the muscles of the stomach: some electrical experiments, 792.
Bardeen, C. R., Estimation of cardiac volume by roentgenology, 823.
Barker, Lewellys F., Roentgenology and internal medicine, 425.
Barringer, B. S., Technique and statistics in the treatment of carcinoma of the bladder by radium, 757.
Bassler, Anthony and Lutz, J. Raymond, Caput puddling, 517.
Béclère, M., What is the best method for the treatment of uterine fibromyomata by means of the roentgen rays?, 797.
Behavior of the stomach in ulcer and cancer of the duodenum below the bulb, A. W. Crane, 102.
Benign tumors, 248.
Bernstein, Benjamin M., Case of Köhler's disease, 518.
Bierman, Morris I., The supernumerary pedal bones, 404.
Bladder, carcinoma of the, technique and statistics in the treatment of, by radium, B. S. Barringer, 757.
Diverticula, demonstration of, Abstract, 836.
Blood and blood-forming organs, action of radium and the x-rays on the, Isaac Levin, 112.
Coagulation, measures for promoting, Abstract, 457.
Studies of American radiologists, 651.
Boggs, Russell H., Ante-operative radiation of carcinoma of the breast, 508.
Treatment of glandular metastases of carcinoma, 117.
Bone-marrow in disease, the close relationship of the erythrogenic and leukogenic functions of the, Abstract, 779.
BOOK REVIEWS:
Alejandro, Wehrhahn R., Contribucion al estudio de los tumores de la hipofisis, 834.
Baetjer, Frederick H. and Waters, Charles A., Injuries and diseases of the bones and joints, 128.
Chaperon, Robert, Etude anatomo-radiologique des vaisseaux de la base du coeur vus de face, 834.
George, A. W. and Leonard, R. D., The pathological gall-bladder, 606.
MacKee, George Miller, X-rays and radium in the treatment of diseases of the skin, 70.
Peterson, William F., Protein therapy and non-specific resistance, 606.
Schlesinger, Emmo, Die röntgendiagnostik der magenund darmkrankheiten, 778.
Bowen, Chas. F., Foreign bodies in the bronchus and esophagus, 705.
Superficial malignancies, 255.
Brain tumors, roentgen-ray treatment of, Abstract, 454.
The diagnosis and treatment of, Abstract, 74.
Treatment of, by radiation, Henry K. Pancoast, 42.
Bray, H. A., Mutation of pulmonary shadows due to type of breathing, 628.
Bronchial glands, nontuberculous adenopathy of the, and calcification of the same, Abstract, 266.
Bronchus and esophagus, foreign bodies in the, Chas. F. Bowen, 705.
Bucky-diaphragm principle, the efficiency of the, R. B. Wilsey, 58.
Bucky-Potter diaphragm, signal light for, John H. Lindsey, 67.

Bumpus, H. C., Roentgen rays and radium in the diagnosis and treatment of carcinoma of the prostate, 269.
Burnam, Curtis F., Results of treatment of carcinoma of the cervix with statistics and technique, 765.

Campbell, Don M., Carter, John M. and Doub, Howard P., A method for roentgen-ray demonstration of the nasolacrymal passageways, 381.
Cancer of the cervix, present status of the treatment of operable, Abstract, 264.
Of the female generative organs, the use of radium in, Abstract, 453.
Of the female genito-urinary organs, irradiation in: results in 313 cases, Abstract, 72.
Of the pancreas, possibilities of roentgen-ray treatment in, G. E. Richards, 150.
Of the pelvic organs with moderate irradiation, the treatment of, John C. Clark and Floyd E. Keene, 808.
Of the rectum, following colostomy, operating cystoscope in application of radium to, Abstract, 689.
Of the uterus, contributions to the radium-roentgenological treatment of, Abstract, 135.
Of the uterus, surgical diathermy and radiotherapy in, Abstract, 838.
Of the uterus, the treatment of, Abstract, 72.
Spinocellular, of the larynx, clinical cure of a, by roentgenotherapy, Abstract, 691.
Uterine: with observations and results of treatment with radium in more than 300 cases, Abstract, 73.
Caput puddling, Anthony Bassler and J. Raymond Lutz, 517.
Carcinoma, laryngeal, radium emanation in the upper air passages as compared to radium: a method of applying it with especial reference to, Abstract, 700.
Mammary, radiotherapy of, Abstract, 266.
Of the antrum, D. Crosby Greene, 591.
Of the bladder by radium, technique and statistics in the treatment of, B. S. Barringer, 757.
Of the breast, ante-operative radiation of, Russell H. Boggs, 508.
Of the breast, radiotherapy in, Abstract, 837.
Of the breast, results of irradiation after radical operation for, Abstract, 704.
Of the cervix, metastases from irradiated and non-irradiated, Abstract, 841.
Of the cervix with statistics and technique, results of treatment of, Curtis F. Burnam, 765.
Of the prostate, roentgen rays and radium in the diagnosis and treatment of, H. C. Bumpus, 269.
Of the thyroid by the roentgen rays and radium, the treatment of, George E. Pfahler, 20.
Of the uterus, radium in, Abstract, 700.
Of the uterus, the length of life of women suffering from, Abstract, 841.
Of the uterus with pregnancy intervening treated successfully by radium followed by delivery of a normal child, C. Everett Field, 657.
Primary, of the vagina with radium, the treatment of, Leda J. Stacy, 48.
The mode of radiation upon, James Ewing, 331.
Treatment of glandular metastases of, Russell H. Boggs, 117.
Uterine, the histological changes incident to radium and x-ray treatment of, Abstract, 701.
Ventriculi, the niche symptom in, Abstract, 693.
Cardiac volume, estimation of, by roentgenology, C. R. Bardeen, 823.
Cardiospasm, diagnosis and clinical manifestations of, associated with diffuse dilatation of the esophagus, Abstract, 454.
Carter, John M., Campbell, Don M. and Doub, Howard P., A method for roentgen-ray demonstration of the nasolacrymal passageways, 381.
Case, James T., Technical and clinical aspects of the new deep roentgenotherapy, 530.
Case of Köhler's disease, Benjamin M. Bernstein, 518.
Of tuberculous gingivitis treated with apparent success by radium, a, George E. Pfahler and B. P. Widmann, 756.
Cataracts, a new radium applicator for the treatment of, Bundy Allen, 755.
Cervix, carcinoma of the, with statistics and technique, results of treatment of, Curtis F. Burnam, 765.
Chest, x-ray and clinical findings in the normal, (children six to ten years of age), National Tuberculosis Association, 537.
X-ray densities based on a study of granite dust inhalation, a conception of, D. C. Jarvis, 226.
Christie, A. C., Groover, T. A. and Merritt, E. A., Report of three unusual cases, 729.
Chronic suppurative otitis media with chronic tonsillitis—one case, 473.
Tonsillitis—10 cases, 469.
Clark, John G. and Keene, Floyd E., The treatment of cancer of the pelvic organs with moderate irradiation, 808.
Clift, M. William, Roentgenological findings in mongolism, 420.
Clinicaland pathological findings, dental roentgenography in the light of, Allan Scott Wolfe, 186.
And roentgen diagnosis of multiple myelomata, Abstract, 839.
Cole, Lewis Gregory, Veils in the right hypochondrium and their differentiation from other organic lesions and spasm, 137.
Colon, peristalsis of the, Preston M. Hickey, 260.
Comparison of radiation doses attainable by use of radium on and within tumors, a, Charles H. Viol, 56.
Of x-rays with γ-rays, 400.
Conception of chest x-ray densities based on a study of granite dust inhalation, a, D. C. Jarvis, 226.
Conditions essential for the production of the auto-electronic phenomenon, 172.
Conjugata vera, radiological methods for the determination of the, Abstract, 694.
Constant vs. variable voltage, 399.
Coolidge, W. D., and Kearsley, W. K., Jr., High voltage x-ray work, 77.
Cornea, report of case of epithelioma of the, D. Y. Keith and P. J. Keith, 337.
Corscaden, James A., Statistics and technique in the treatment of fibromyoma of the uterus by radiotherapy, 812.
Correspondence:
Emil Amberg, 196.
Anthony Bassler, 126.
Morris I. Bierman, 69.
I. S. Hirsch, 777.
Robert Knox, 388.
E. A. Merritt and I. Levin, 524.
Montford Morrison, 263.
Jas. G. Van Zwaluwenburg, 326.
Crabtree, E. Granville and Shedden, William M., The roentgenologist and the urologist in the diagnosis of renal disease, 632.
Crane, A. W., Behavior of the stomach in ulcer and cancer of the duodenum below the bulb, 102.
The heart, the x-ray and the internist, Editorial, 323.
The roentgenological aspects of achylia gastrica, 527.

Dean, Archie, Failla, Gioacchino and Quimby, Edith H., Some problems of radiation therapy, 479.
Deep roentgenotherapy, technical and clinical aspects of the new, James T. Case, 530.
Dental film values, 653.
Roentgenography in the light of clinical and pathological findings, Allan Scott Wolfe, 186.
Dentistry, roentgen therapy in, John L. Garretson, 740.
Dermatology, the value of roentgen therapy in, George M. MacKee and George C. Andrews, 241.
Dermoid cyst, unsuspected, diagnosed by roentgen examination, Louis Edeiken, 15.
Description of a 200,000 volt constant-potential continuous-current machine, 79.
Of an experimental interrupterless machine for more than 300,000 volts (max.), 78.
Design of high voltage x-ray tube, 78.
Diagnosis of pulmonary conditions in children, John W. Pierson, 11.
Diagnostic voltages, minimum erythema dose with, Arthur W. Erskine, 148.
Diaphragm irregularities, Abstract, 780.
Diphtheria carriers, treatment of, by means of the roentgen ray, Preston M. Hickey, 319.
Discussion on paper by George E. Pfahler, 771.
On paper by John W. Pierson, 240.
On paper by R. B. Wilsey, 121.
On papers by Drs. Hazen and Bowen, 258.
On papers by Drs. Stacy, Schmitz, Field, Burnam, Corscaden and Clark, 820.
On papers of Prof. Dessauer and Drs. Stern, Stewart and Holfelder, 347.
On symposium on therapy of the thyroid gland, papers by Drs. Allison, Holmes, Pfahler and Tyler, 29.
Diseases due to fungi, 252
Due to staphylococci, 252.
Supposedly due to the tubercle bacillus, 252.
Distribution of x-ray intensity in different directions from a 45-degree tungsten target, 93.
Donaldson, S. W. and Merrill, E. F., Van Zwaluwenburg type of stereoscope, the, 742.
Dosage and technique in the x-ray treatment of goiter, tuberculous glands of the neck, tonsils and adenoids, the, W. D. Witherbee, 514.
Doub, Howard P., Campbell, Don M. and Carter, John M., A method for roentgen-ray demonstration of the nasolacrymal passageways, 381.
Duane, William, Measurement of roentgen radiation by means of an ionization chamber and galvanometer, 467.
Roentgen rays of short wave-lengths and their measurement, 167.
The production of penetrating x-rays, 391.
The scientific basis of short wave-length therapy, 781.
Duodenum below the bulb, behavior of the stomach in ulcer and cancer of the, A. W. Crane, 102.

Eczema, 249.
Edeiken, Louis, Unsuspected dermoid cyst diagnosed by roentgen examination, 15.
EDITORIALS:
Albers-Schönberg, Heinrich Ernst, 194.
Boggs, Dr. Russell H.: an appreciation, 685.
Caldwell lecture, the, 388.
Canadian Radiological Society Consultation Bureau, 329.
Change in the name of the JOURNAL, 688.
Chemist in medicine, the, A. C. Christie, 125.
Extract from a paper on measurements used in radioactivity and the radium standard, Madame P. Curie, 607.
EDITORIALS:
Heart, the x-ray and the internist, the, A. W. Crane, 323.
National board, examinations of, 833.
New England Roentgen Ray Society, officers of, 390.
New York Roentgen Ray Society, officers of, 525.
Pacific Section of the American Roentgen Ray Society, officers of, 525.
Philadelphia Roentgen Ray Society, officers of, 525.
Shearer, Professor John S., W. D. Coolidge, 522.
Shearer, Professor John Sandford: an appreciation, F. K. Richtmyer, 520.
Shearer's, Professor, services to the army, A. C. Christie, 523.
Terminology, 833.
Van Zwaluwenburg, Dr. James G., 123.
Meetings:
Fifteenth semi-annual of Pacific Coast R. R. S. amalgamated with Medical and Surgical Association of the Southwest, report of, 68.
Fourth annual of Eastern Section of A. R. R. S., 776.
Fourth Italian Congress of Radiology, 262, 611.
Midwinter of Central Section A. R. R. S., 833.
Seventh annual of American Radium Society, 68, preliminary program, 196.
Third annual of Canadian Radiological Society, 195, report of, 612.
Third annual of Central Section of A. R. R. S., 68.
Twenty-third annual of A. R. R. S., 127, 195, 262, preliminary program, 449, report of, 775.
Obituary:
Rasely, Dr. Edwin R., 525.
Resolution adopted by the central section (on death of James G. Van Zwaluwenburg), 127.
Robarts, Dr. Heber, 451.
Threlkeld-Edwards, Dr. Herbert, 777.
Effect of electrical characteristics of high tension supply circuit on behavior of x-ray tube, 88.
Of electrical characteristics of high tension supply circuit on x-ray outfit, 81.
Of radium on the normal tissues of the brain and spinal cord of dogs, and its therapeutic application, the, Eugene P. Pendergrass, J. M. Hayman, Jr., K. M. Houser, and V. C. Rambo, 533.
Of the Bucky diaphragm upon the intensities of scattered radiation, the, 60.
Of the size of radium applicators on skin doses, the, Edith H. Quimby, 671.
Effects of filtration on the x-ray spectrum, 397.
Of roentgen rays and radioactive substances on living cells and tissues, the, Leo Loeb, 497.
Of the x-rays and radium on the blood and general health of radiologists, the, George E. Pfahler, 647.
Efficiency of the Bucky-diaphragm principle, the, R. B. Wilsey, 58.
Encephalography: a method for the roentgenographic demonstration for the brain, Abstract, 698.
Endocervicitis, pruritus, and kraurosis, 661.
Erskine, Arthur W., Minimum erythema dose with diagnostic voltages, 148.
Erythema doses for different filtration, 483.
Erythremia, report of a case of. The roentgen-ray treatment of erythremia. The close relationship of the erythrogenetic and leukogenetic functions of the bone marrow in disease, Abstract, 779.
Esophagus, foreign bodies in the bronchus and, Chas. F. Bowen, 705.
Estimation of cardiac volume by roentgenology, C. R. Bardeen, 823.
Europe, the present status of deep roentgen therapy in, W. H. Stewart, 315.

Evans, Wm. A., Roentgen studies of the thoraces of the stillborn and newborn, 613.
Eye images, right and left, in stereoscopic chest films, a marker for identifying, Paul C. Hodges, 751.

Failla, Gioacchino, Quimby, Edith H. and Dean, Archie, Some problems of radiation therapy, 479.
Failures after gastro-enterostomy turned to success by the knowledge furnished by x-ray examination, A. Howard Pirie, 358.
Favus of the scalp, time-saving devices for the roentgen-ray treatment of ringworm and, George M. MacKee and George C. Andrews, 746.
Fibroids, uterine, still require operative removal, in what cases do, Abstract, 700.
Fibromyoma of the uterus by radiotherapy, statistics and technique in the treatment of, James A. Corscaden, 812.
Fibromyomas, 659.
Fibromyomata, uterine, by means of the roentgen rays, what is the best method for the treatment of? M. Béclère, 797.
Field, C. Everett, Carcinoma of the uterus with pregnancy intervening treated successfully by radium followed by delivery of a normal child, 657.
Foreign bodies in the air and food passages, the symptomatology and diagnosis of, based upon a study of 789 cases, Abstract, 75.
In the bronchus and esophagus, Chas. F. Bowen, 705.
In the lumen of the appendix, appendicitis due to the presence of, John T. Murphy, 437.
Non-opaque, in empyema cavities, the roentgenologic demonstration of, Abstract, 699.
Non-opaque, in the air passages, the roentgen-ray diagnosis of, Willis F. Manges, 288.
Foreign body in the arm, report of an unusual, Charles Frederick Baker, 727.
Unique case of swallowed, Abstract, 697.
Function, on the, of the muscles of the stomach: some electrical experiments, A. E. Barclay, 792.
Futility of insufflation in asphyxia neonatorum, the, 613.

Gall-bladder, the roentgenological study of the pathological, B. R. Kirklin, 713.
Shadow, the, 714.
Gall-stones, 713.
Galvanometer, measurement of roentgen radiation by means of an ionization chamber and, William Duane, 467.
Garretson, John L., Roentgen therapy in dentistry, 740.
Gastro-enterostomy, failures after, turned to success by the knowledge furnished by x-ray examination, A. Howard Pirie, 358.
Giles, Roy G., A study of rickets with review of recent literature, 360.
Gingivitis, tuberculous, treated with apparent success by radium, a case of, George E. Pfahler and B. P. Widmann, 756.
Glove rack, a protective, Roscoe G. Van Nuys, 314.
Goiter, exophthalmic, radium emanations in, Abstract, 696.
Exophthalmic, the treatment of, by radiation, Abstract, 690.
Tuberculous glands of the neck, tonsils and adenoids, the dosage and technique in the x-ray treatment of, W. D. Witherbee, 514.
Graduate instruction in roentgenology, G. W. Holmes, 465.
Graduate instruction in roentgenology, J. S. Shearer, 459.
Granite dust inhalation, a conception of chest x-ray densities based on a study of, D. C. Jarvis, 226.
Greene, D. Crosby, Carcinoma of the antrum, 591.
Groover, T. A., Christie, A. C. and Merritt, E. A., Report of three unusual cases, 729.
Gynecologic diseases, malignant, radiotherapy in, Abstract, 453.

Habitus, two tables pertaining to the incidence of bodily habitus and the time of complete gastric motility in different types of, R. Walter Mills, 731.
Hayman, J. M., Jr., Pendergrass, Eugene P., Houser, K. M. and Rambo, V. C., The effect of radium on the normal tissues of the brain and spinal cord of dogs, and its therapeutic application, 533.
Hazen, H. H., The roentgen-ray treatment of diseases of the skin, 247.
The ultraviolet ray in the treatment of roentgen-ray telangiectasis, 101.
Health of radiologists, the effects of the x-rays and radium on the blood and general, George E. Pfahler, 647.
Heart, a practical method of roentgen examination of the, based upon a study of one hundred consecutive normal and abnormal cases, Rolla G Karshner and Robert Helm Kennicott, 305.
The base of the, radiologic study of the great vessels of, Abstract, 689.
Hemler, William F., High tension electric shocks in roentgenologic practice, 365.
Hemorrhages, malignant and benign, the technique of roentgen irradiation in, Abstract, 835.
Hickey, Preston M., Peristalsis of the colon, 260.
Standardization of roentgen-ray reports, 422.
Treatment of diphtheria carriers by means of the roentgen ray, 319.
High tension electric shocks in roentgenologic practice, William F. Hemler, 365.
High voltage x-ray work, W. D. Coolidge and W. K. Kearsley, Jr., 77.
Hitchcock, Charles H., Waters, Charles A. and MacCready, Paul B., Roentgen-ray treatment of chronically infected tonsils and adenoids, 469.
Hodges, Fred M., Pyelitis of pregnancy, 352.
Hodges, Paul C., A marker for identifying right and left eye images in stereoscopic chest films, 751.
A new method of simultaneous stereoscopic observation of both mastoids, 753.
Holfelder, Hans, The underlying principles in the radiotherapy of malignant tumors at the surgical clinic of Professor Schmieden of the University of Frankfort, 341.
Holmes, G. W., Graduate instruction in roentgenology, 465.
Houser, K. M., Pendergrass, Eugene P., Hayman, J. M., Jr. and Rambo, V. C., The effect of radium on the normal tissues of the brain and spinal cord of dogs, and its therapeutic application, 533.
Hyperhidrosis, 254.
Hypertrichosis, 253.
Hypochondrium, right, and their differentiation from other organic lesions and spasm, veils in the, Lewis Gregory Cole, 137.

Influence of radium and x-rays on yeasted frogs, 113.
Of x-rays and radium on normal rabbits, 114.
Of x-rays on normal frogs, 113.
Inoperable carcinoma of the bladder, 760.
Internal medicine, roentgenology and, Lewellys F. Barker, 425.
Interstitial radiation, the value of, Douglas Quick, 161.
Intestine, the action of pepsin on the motility of the large, Abstract, 696.

Intracranial passages following spinal air injections, roentgenography of, Charles L. Martin and Claude Uhler, 543.
Irradiation, moderate, the treatment of cancer of the pelvic organs with, John G. Clark and Floyd E. Keene, 808.

Jack, Cecil M., Osteitis deformans (Paget's disease), 626.
Jamieson, William R. and Pendergrass, Eugene P., The roentgen-ray laboratory of the University Hospital, Philadelphia, 735.
Jarvis, D. C., A conception of chest x-ray densities based on a study of granite dust inhalation, 226.
Johnson, F. M. and Quick, Douglas, Statistics and technique in the treatment of malignant neoplasms of the larynx, 599.

Karshner, Rolla G. and Kennicott, Robert Helm, A practical method of roentgen examination of the heart based upon a study of one hundred consecutive normal and abnormal cases, 305.
Keene, Floyd E. and Clark, John G., The treatment of cancer of the pelvic organs with moderate irradiation, 808.
Keith, D. Y., Tubercular epiphysitis of the greater trochanter, 549.
Keith, D. Y. and Keith, J. P. Report of case of epithelioma of the cornea, 337.
Three cases of sarcoma treated by radiation, 31.
Keratoses, 248.
Kirklin, B. R., The roentgenological study of the pathological gall-bladder, 713.
Köhler's disease, case of, Benjamin M. Bernstein, 518.

Laboratory, the roentgen-ray, of the University Hospital, Philadelphia, Eugene P. Pendergrass and William R. Jamieson, 735.
Lamb, Frank W., The roentgen ray in the diagnosis of scoliosis, 723.
Larynx, statistics and technique in the treatment of malignant neoplasms of the, Douglas Quick and F. M. Johnson, 599.
Length of life, the, of women suffering from carcinoma of the uterus, Abstract, 841.
Leukemia, myelogenous, remote results of the radium treatment of, Abstract, 131.
Levin, Isaac, Action of radium and the x-rays on the blood and blood-forming organs, 112.
Lichen planus, 251.
Lilienfeld, J. E., The auto-electronic discharge and its application to the construction of a new form of x-ray tube, 172.
Lindsey, John H., Signal light for Bucky-Potter diaphragm, 67.
Living cells and tissues, the effects of roentgen rays and radioactive substances on, Leo Loeb, 497.
Loeb, Leo, The effects of roentgen rays and radioactive substances on living cells and tissues, 497.
Los Angeles, 443.
Lumbar spine and sacroiliac joints, the, Myron B. Palmer, 16.
Lungs, acute infections of the, 12.
Interlobular fissures of the, the topographical conditions of the, Abstract, 694.
Lupus erythematosus, 251.
Lutz, J. Raymond and Bassler, Anthony, Caput puddling, 517.
Lyons, Horace R., Treatment by radium of nasal polyps, 584.

MacCready, Paul B., Hitchcock, Charles H. and Waters, Charles A., Roentgen-ray treatment of chronically infected tonsils and adenoids, 469.
MacKee, George M. and Andrews, George C., The value of roentgen therapy in dermatology, 241.
Time-saving devices for the roentgen-ray treatment of ringworm and favus of the scalp, 746.
Malignancies, superficial, Charles F. Bowen, 255.
Malignant neoplasms, the present field for the use of the x-rays and radium in the treatment of, William S. Stone, 502.
Manges, Willis F., The roentgen-ray diagnosis of non-opaque foreign bodies in the air passages, 288.
Marker for identifying right and left eye images in stereoscopic chest films, a, Paul C. Hodges, 751.
Martin, Charles L. and Caldwell, George T., The relation of temperature changes to roentgen-ray skin reactions, 152.
Martin, Charles L. and Uhler, Claude, Roentgenography of intracranial passages following spinal air injections, 543.
Mastoids, both, a new method of simultaneous stereoscopic observation of, Paul C. Hodges, 753.
Maxillary sinus, 190.
Measurement of high tension voltage, 80.
Of roentgen radiation by means of an ionization chamber and galvanometer, William Duane, 467.
Of the difference of potential, 394.
Measurements, roentgen rays of short wave-lengths and their, William Duane, 167.
Merrill, E. F. and Donaldson, S. W., Van Zwaluwenburg type of stereoscope, the, 742.
Merritt, E. A., Groover, T. A. and Christie, A. C., Report of three unusual cases, 729.
Mesothorium on unicellular organisms, concerning the influence of, Abstract, 455.
Metatarsal disease, a peculiar characteristic, Abstract, 695.
Method for roentgen-ray demonstration of the nasolacrymal passageways, a, Don M. Campbell, John M. Carter and Howard P. Doub, 381.
Of measuring wave-lengths, 392.
Mills, R. Walter, Two tables pertaining to the incidence of bodily habitus and the time of complete gastric motility in different types of habitus, 731.
X-ray evidence of abdominal small intestinal states embodying an hypothesis of the transmission of gastro-intestinal tension, 199.
Ming, Charles M., A new apparatus, 370.
Minimum erythema dose with diagnostic voltages, Arthur W. Erskine, 148.
Mode of radiation upon carcinoma, the, James Ewing, 331.
Mongolism, roentgenological findings in, M. William Clift, 420.
Morgan, J. D., Stereofluoroscopy, 180.
Motility, gastric, in different types of habitus, two tables pertaining to the incidence of bodily habitus and the time of complete, R. Walter Mills, 731.
Murphy, John T., Appendicitis due to the presence of foreign bodies in the lumen of the appendix, 437.
Muscles of the stomach: on the function of the, some electrical experiments, A. E. Barclay, 792.
Mutation of pulmonary shadows due to type of breathing, H. A. Bray, 628.
Myelomata, multiple, Abstract, 840.

Nasal polyps, treatment by radium of, Horace R. Lyons, 584.
Nasolacrymal passageways, the, a method for roentgen-ray demonstration of, Don M. Campbell, John M. Carter and Howard P. Doub, 381.
National Tuberculosis Association, X-ray and clinical findings in the normal chest (children six to ten years of age), 537.

Nerve irritation, 189.
Neuritis, radiotherapy of, Abstract, 76.
Newcomet, William S., The superficial reaction of radium as a guide to dosage, 34.
New method of simultaneous stereoscopic observation of both mastoids, a, Paul C. Hodges, 753.
New radium applicator for the treatment of cataracts, a, Bundy Allen, 755.
New safety device, a, H. W. Van Allen, 745.
New type of applicator for use with radium emanation, a, Douglas Quick and F. M. Johnson, 53.

Oculo-esophageal reflex as seen on the screen, the, Abstract, 265.
Osgood-Schlatter's disease, Ellis R. Bader, 623.
Osteitis deformans (Paget's disease), Cecil M. Jack, 626.
Osteomyelitis, acute hæmatogenous, Abstract, 266.

Paget's disease, osteitis deformans, Cecil M. Jack, 626.
Palmer, Myron B., The lumbar spine and sacroiliac joints, 16.
Pancoast, Henry K., Treatment of brain tumors by radiation, 42.
Pass box, a simple, Charles B. Reed, 340.
Patella in children, a hitherto unknown affection of the, Abstract, 136.
Pathogeny, Koehler's disease, especially with a view to its, Abstract, 136.
Pedal bones, the supernumerary, Morris I. Bierman, 404.
Pelvic organs with moderate irradiation, the treatment of cancer of, John G. Clark and Floyd E. Keene, 808.
Pelvis with radium, the treatment of benign conditions of the, Leda J. Stacy, 658.
Pendergrass, Eugene P., Hayman, J. M., Jr., Houser, K. M. and Rambo, V. C., The effect of radium on the normal tissues of the brain and spinal cord of dogs, and its therapeutic application, 533.
Pendergrass, Eugene P. and Jamieson, William R., The roentgen-ray laboratory of the University Hospital, Philadelphia, 735.
Penetrating x-rays, the production of, William Duane, 391.
Penetration of homogeneous x-rays through water, 401.
Peristalsis of the colon, Preston M. Hickey, 260.
Pfahler, George E., New technique for the vertical examination of the sphenoids and ethmoids, with demonstration of special sphenoid film holder, 183.
Protection in radiology, 803.
The effects of the x-rays and radium on the blood and general health of radiologists, 647.
The treatment of carcinoma of the thyroid by the roentgen rays and radium, 20.
Pfahler, George E. and Widmann, B. P., A case of tuberculous gingivitis treated with apparent success by radium, 756.
Philadelphia, the roentgen-ray laboratory of the University Hospital, Eugene P. Pendergrass and William R. Jamieson, 735.
Physical features of the auto-electric phenomenon, 173.
Physiotherapy treatment, 579.
Pierson, John W., Diagnosis of pulmonary conditions in children, 11.
Pirie, A. Howard, Failures after gastro-enterostomy turned to success by the knowledge furnished by x-ray examination, 358.
Placental circulation, roentgenography of the, Abstract, 698.
Pneumokoniosis, especially its coarse form, the roentgen appearance of, Abstract, 699.
Pneumoperitoneum technique, a simplified, L. R. Sante, 618.
Pneumothorax, small, roentgen-ray technique for the demonstration of, James C. Thompson and Nathan Barlow, 235.
Potter-Bucky diaphragm, some practical results with a, R. B. Wilsey, 441.
Practical method of roentgen examination of the heart based upon a study of one hundred consecutive normal and abnormal cases, a, Rolla G. Karshner and Robert Helm Kennicott, 305.
Pregnancy, appendicitis in, Abstract, 697.
Pyelitis of, Fred M. Hodges, 352.
Present field for the use of the x-rays and radium in the treatment of malignant neoplasms, the, William S. Stone, 502.
Status of deep roentgen therapy in Europe, the, W. H. Stewart, 315.
Status, the, of radiation of malignant tumors, Abstract, 839.
Problems of radiation therapy, some, Gioacchino Failla, Edith H. Quimby and Archie Dean, 479.
Of the urologist in which x-ray of the kidney is concerned, 633.
Production of penetrating x-rays, the, William Duane, 391.
Prostatism, x-ray in the diagnosis of, Abstract, 131.
Protection in radiology, George E. Pfahler, 803.
To the operator from unnecessary radium radiation, Albert Soiland, 683.
Protective glove rack, a, Roscoe G. Van Nuys, 314.
Pruritus, 254.
Psoriasis, 251.
Puddling, caput, Anthony Bassler and J. Raymond Lutz, 517.
Pulmonary conditions in children, diagnosis of, John W. Pierson, 11.
Shadows due to type of breathing, mutation of, H. A. Bray, 628.
Purpura, idiopathic, with unusual features, Abstract. 132.
Pyelitis of pregnancy, Fred M. Hodges, 352.
Pyorrheal infection, 188.

Quick, Douglas, The value of interstitial radiation, 161.
Quick, Douglas and Johnson, F. M., A new type of applicator for use with radium emanation, 53.
Statistics and technique in the treatment of malignant neoplasms of the larynx, 599.
Quimby, Edith H., The effect of the size of radium applicators on skin doses, 671.
Quimby, Edith H., Dean, Archie and Failla, Gioacchino, Some problems of radiation therapy, 479.

Radiation of a myomatous uterus, pregnancy and labor after, Abstract, 692.
Of malignant tumors, the present status of, Abstract, 839.
Therapy, some problems of, Giocchino Failla, Edith H. Quimby and Archie Dean, 479.
Three cases of sarcoma treated by, D. Y. Keith and J. P. Keith, 31.
Value of interstitial, 161.
Radiations, the treatment of exophthalmic goiter by, Abstract, 690.
Radiologic exploration of the liver and spleen, rectal insufflation with carbonic acid gas in, Abstract, 76.

Radiology, protection in, George E. Pfahler, 803.
Radioscopy, traction-diverticulum of the esophagus shown by, Abstract, 267.
Radiotherapy, a case of painful gynecomastia cured by, Abstract, 696.
And surgical diathermy in cancer of the uterus, Abstract, 838.
Deep, what one may hope and what fear in the use of, Abstract, 458.
Pathologic and anatomic results of, Abstract, 457.
Statistics and technique in the treatment of fibromyoma of the uterus by, James A. Corscaden, 812.
Radium, a case of tuberculous gingivitis treated with apparent success by, George E. Pfahler and B. P. Widmann, 756.
And roentgen ray, the treatment of tuberculous adenitis by, Abstract, 73.
And roentgen rays, the treatment of myoma uteri and menorrhagia with, Abstract, 697.
And the x-ray, the combination of, in certain types of carcinoma of the breast, Abstract, 129.
And x-ray treatment, the histological changes incident to, of uterine cancer, Abstract, 701.
As a guide to dosage, the superficial reaction of, William S. Newcomet, 34.
Institute, London, annual report, Abstract, 526.
Needles, treatment of malignant tumors with, Abstract, 696.
On the normal tissues of the brain and spinal cord of dogs and its therapeutic application, the effect of, Eugene P. Pendergrass, J. M. Hayman, Jr., K. M. Houser and V. C. Rambo, 553.
Operating cystoscope in application of, to cancer of the rectum, following colostomy, Abstract, 689.
Paper on, Abstract, 699.
Standard, the, extract from a paper on measurements used in radioactivity and, Editorial, 607.
Technique and statistics in the treatment of carcinoma of the bladder by, B. S. Barringer, 757.
The beta and gamma rays of, in the tissues following radium-puncture, experimental researches on the action of, Abstract, 701.
The present position of, in the study and treatment of uterine cancer, Abstract, 264.
Therapy of hypophysial tumors, Abstract, 131.
Therapy, on plastic and elastic means of application in, Abstract, 268.
The use of, during the past year, impressions gained from, Abstract, 133.
The use of, in cancer of the female generative organs, Abstract, 453.
Treatment of diseased tonsils, Carl F. Robinson, 588.
Treatment of parotid tumors, Abstract, 836.
With observations and results of treatment with, in more than 300 cases: uterine cancer, Abstract, 73.
Rambo, V. C., Pendergrass, Eugene P., Hayman, J. M., Jr. and Houser, K. M., The effect of radium on the normal tissues of the brain and spinal cord of dogs, and its therapeutic application, 553.
Rectosigmoid apparatus, the, Horace W. Soper, 412.
Reed, Charles B., A simple pass box, 340.
Relation of temperature changes to roentgen-ray skin reactions, the, Charles L. Martin and George T. Caldwell, 152.
Remeasurement of the value of the product $V\lambda_m$, 396.
Renal disease, the roentgenologist and the urologist in the diagnosis of, E. Granville Crabtree and William M. Shedden, 632.
Report of an unusual foreign body in the arm, Charles Frederick Baker, 727.
Of case of epithelioma of the cornea, D. Y. Keith and J. P. Keith, 337.
Of three unusual cases, T. A. Groover, A C. Christie and E. A. Merritt, 729.
Reports, roentgen-ray, standardization of, P. M. Hickey, 422.
Results of treatment of carcinoma of the cervix with statistics and technique, Curtis F. Burnam, 765.
Richards, G. E., Possibilities of roentgen-ray treatment in cancer of the pancreas, 150.
Rickets with review of recent literature, a study of, Roy G. Giles, 360.
Rieber, Frank, Standardization of the measurement of tube potential, 371.
Ringworm and favus of the scalp, time-saving devices for the roentgen-ray treatment of, George M. MacKee and George C. Andrews, 746.
Robinson, Carl F., Radium treatment of diseased tonsils, 588.
Roentgen and radium treatments, blood changes by, Abstract, 695.
And radium ulcers, the management of, Abstract, 842.
Diagnostics of changes in the appendix and cecum, on the, Abstract, 136.
Examination, unsuspected dermoid cyst diagnosed by, Louis Edeiken, 15.
Roentgenography of intracranial passages following spinal air injections, Charles L. Martin and Claude Uhler, 543.
Roentgenologic diagnosis, limitations of, Abstract, 837.
Roentgenological aspects of achylia gastrica, the, A. W. Crane, 527.
Findings in mongolism, M. William Clift, 420.
Study of the pathological gall-bladder, the, B. R. Kirklin, 713.
Roentgenologist and the urologist in the diagnosis of renal disease, the, E. Granville Crabtree and William M. Shedden, 632.
Roentgenology and internal medicine, Lewellys F. Barker, 425.
Estimation of cardiac volume by, C. R. Bardeen, 823.
Graduate instruction in, G. W. Holmes, 465.
Graduate instruction in, J. S. Shearer, 459.
Roentgenotherapy, clinical cure of a spinocellular cancer of the larynx by, Abstract, 691.
Of the thyroid, A. F. Tyler, 25.
Roentgen ray and radium, the treatment of tuberculous adenitis by, Abstract, 73.
Diagnosis of non-opaque foreign bodies in the air passages, the, Willis F. Manges, 288.
In the diagnosis of scoliosis, the, Frank W. Lamb, 723.
Laboratory of the University Hospital, Philadelphia, the, Eugene P. Pendergrass and William R. Jamieson, 735.
Study of mercuric injections by means of the, Abstract, 71.
Technique for the demonstration of small pneumothorax, James C. Thompson and Nathan Barlow, 235.
Treatment of chronically infected tonsils and adenoids, Charles A. Waters, Paul B. MacCready and Charles H. Hitchcock, 469.
Treatment of diseases of the skin, the, H. H. Hazen, 247.
Treatment of erythremia, the. The close relationship of the erythrogenetic and leukogenetic functions of the bone marrow in disease. Report of a case of erythremia, Abstract, 779.
Treatment, possibilities of, in cancer of the pancreas, G. E. Richards, 150.

Roentgen rays and radium in the diagnosis and treatment of carcinoma of the prostate, H. C. Bumpus, 269.
Concentration of the, and increase of the dosis-quotient by means of scattered radiations, Abstract, 704.
Effect of, on liver and spleen, Abstract, 454.
Of short wave-lengths and their measurement, William Duane, 167.
On a tumor of the skull, concerning a peculiar favorable influence of, Abstract, 458.
What is the best method for the treatment of uterine fibromyomata by means of the, M. Béclère, 797.
Roentgen retention, clinical examinations of a four hours', Abstract, 693.
Roentgen studies of the thoraces of the stillborn and newborn, Wm. A. Evans, 613.
Roentgen therapy in dentistry, John L. Garretson, 740.
The value of, in dermatology, 241.
Rosacea, 251.

Sacroiliac joints, the lumbar spine and, Myron B. Palmer, 16.
Safety device, a new, H. W. Van Allen, 745.
Sampson, C. M., Ultraviolet and x-ray as physiologic complements in therapeusis; a newly established clinical treatment, 570.
Sante, L. R., A simplified pneumoperitoneum technique, 618.
Sarcoma treated by radiation, three cases of, D. Y. Keith and J. P. Keith, 31.
Schmitz, Henry, Technique and statistics in the treatment of carcinoma of the uterus and contiguous organs with the combined use of radium and x-rays, 662.
Scientific basis of short wave-length therapy, the, Wm. Duane, 781.
Scoliosis, the roentgen ray in the diagnosis of, Frank W. Lamb, 723.
Serial roentgenographic observations of chronic pulmonary tuberculosis, J. Burns Amberson, 639.
Shearer, J. S., Graduate instruction in roentgenology, 459.
Shedden, William M. and Crabtree, E. Granville, The roentgenologist and the urologist in the diagnosis of renal disease, 632.
Shocks in roentgenologic practice, high tension electric, William F. Hemler, 365.
Simplified pneumoperitoneum technique, a, L. R. Sante, 618.
Sinusitis, the x-ray diagnosis of accessory, James G. Van Zwaluwenburg, 1.
Size of radium applicators on skin doses, the effect of the, Edith H. Quimby, 671.
Skin reactions, roentgen-ray, the relation of temperature changes to, Charles L. Martin and George T. Caldwell, 152.
The roentgen-ray treatment of diseases of, H. H. Hazen, 247.
Small operable carcinoma, 759.
Soiland, Albert, Protection to the operator from unnecessary radium radiation, 683.
Some practical results with a Potter-Bucky diaphragm, R. B. Wilsey, 441.
Soper, Horace W., The rectosigmoid apparatus, 412.
Sphenoids and ethmoids, with demonstration of special sphenoid film holder, new technique for the vertical examination of the, George E. Pfahler, 183.
Spondylolisthesis, traumatic: report of two cases, Abstract, 130.
Stacy, Leda J., The treatment of benign conditions of the pelvis with radium, 658.
Treatment of primary carcinoma of the vagina with radium, the, 48.
Standardization of roentgen-ray reports, P. M. Hickey, 422.
Of the measurement of tube potential, Frank Rieber, 371.
Statistics and technique in the treatment of fibromyoma of the uterus by radiotherapy, James A. Corscaden, 812.
And technique in the treatment of malignant neoplasms of the larynx, Douglas Quick and F. M. Johnson, 599.
Stereofluoroscopy, J. D. Morgan, 180.
Stereoscope, the Van Zwaluwenburg type of, S. W. Donaldson and E. F. Merrill, 742.
Stewart, W. H., The present status of deep roentgen therapy in Europe, 315.
Stillborn and newborn, roentgen studies of the thoraces of the, Wm. A. Evans, 613.
Stomach, serration of the greater curvature of the, Abstract, 458.
Some electrical experiments on the function of the muscles of the, A. E. Barclay, 792.
The motility of the, comparative researches upon, Abstract, 693.
Stone, William S., The present field for the use of the x-rays and radium in the treatment of malignant neoplasms, 502.
Study of rickets with review of recent literature, a, Roy G. Giles, 360.
Superficial malignancies, Charles F. Bowen, 255.
Reaction of radium as a guide to dosage, the, William S. Newcomet, 34.
Supernumerary pedal bones, the, Morris I. Bierman, 404.
Sydenham's chorea with chronic tonsillitis—one case, 473.

Technical and clinical aspects of the new deep roentgenotherapy, James T. Case, 530.
Technique and statistics in the treatment of carcinoma of the bladder by radium, B. S. Barringer, 757.
And statistics in the treatment of carcinoma of the uterus and contiguous organs with the combined use of radium and x-rays, Henry Schmitz, 662.
Technique, new, for the vertical examination of the sphenoids and ethmoids, with demonstration of special sphenoid film holder, George E. Pfahler, 183.
Telangiectasis, roentgen ray, the ultraviolet ray in the treatment of, H. H. Hazen, 101.
Therapy, the scientific basis of short wave-length, Wm. Duane, 781.
Thompson, James C. and Barlow, Nathan, Roentgen-ray technique for the demonstration of small pneumothorax, 235.
Thymus gland as a factor in asphyxia neonatorum, the, 615.
Thyroid gland, radium treatment of changes in the, Abstract, 135.
Roentgenotherapy of the, A. F. Tyler, 25.
Time-saving devices for the roentgen-ray treatment of ringworm and favus of the scalp, George M. MacKee and George C. Andrews, 746.
Tonsils and adenoids, roentgen-ray treatment of chronically infected, Charles A. Waters, Paul B. MacCready and Charles H. Hitchcock, 469.
Radium treatment of diseased, Carl F. Robinson, 588.

Treatment by radium of nasal polyps, Horace R. Lyons, 584.
Of benign conditions of the pelvis with radium, the, Leda J. Stacy, 658.
Of brain tumors by radiation, Henry K. Pancoast, 42.
Of cancer of the pelvic organs with moderate irradiation, the, John G. Clark and Floyd E. Keene, 808.
Of carcinoma of the thyroid by the roentgen rays and radium, the, George E. Pfahler, 20.
Of diphtheria carriers by means of the roentgen ray, Preston M. Hickey, 319.
Of glandular metastases of carcinoma, Russell H. Boggs, 117.
Of primary carcinoma of the vagina with radium, the, Leda J. Stacy, 48.
Of sarcoma with roentgen rays, Abstract, 841.
Trochanter, greater, tubercular epiphysitis of the, D. Y. Keith, 549.
Tube potential, standardization of the measurement of, Frank Rieber, 371.
Tubercular epiphysitis of the greater trochanter, D. Y. Keith, 549.
Tuberculosis, cecal, with pulmonary tuberculosis, the incidence of, Abstract, 835.
Gangliopulmonary, in the child, radiodiagnosis of, Abstract, 838.
Ileocecal, roentgen examination of, with special reference to the so-called Stierlin sign, Abstract, 693.
Pulmonary, a contribution to the question of roentgen therapy in, Abstract, 835.
Pulmonary and intestinal, the roentgen therapy of, Abstract, 841.
Serial roentgenographic observations of chronic pulmonary, J. Burns Amberson, 639.
Surgical, deep roentgen therapy in, Abstract, 455.
Tumors, a comparison of radiation doses attainable by use of radium on and within, Charles H. Viol, 56.
Hypophyseal, the radium therapy of, Abstract, 131.
Malignant, the therapeutic problem in cases of, Abstract, 704.
Malignant, the underlying principles in the radiotherapy of, at the surgical clinic of Professor Schmieden of the University of Frankfort, Hans Holfelder, 341.
Of the left hypochondrium, radiography of, Abstract, 692.
Parotid, radium treatment of, Abstract, 836.
Two tables pertaining to the incidence of bodily habitus and the time of complete gastric motility in different types of habitus, R. Walter Mills, 731.
Tyler, A. F., Roentgenotherapy of the thyroid, 25.

Uhler, Claude and Martin, Charles L., Roentgenography of intracranial passages following spinal air injections, 543.
Ulcer, benign gastric in a known syphilitic: a résumé of the literature concerning the diagnosis of organic gastric syphilis, Abstract, 265.
Ultraviolet and x-ray as physiologic complements in therapeusis: a newly established clinical treatment, C. M. Sampson, 570.
Ray in the treatment of roentgen ray telangiectasis, the, H. H. Hazen, 101.
Underlying principles in the radiotherapy of malignant tumors at the surgical clinic of Professor Schmieden of the University of Frankfort, the, Hans Holfelder, 341.
Unnecessary radium radiation, protection to the operator from, Albert Soiland, 683.
Unusual cases, report of three, T. A. Groover, A. C. Christie and E. A. Merritt, 729.
Urinary bladder, diverticula of the, Abstract, 330.
Tract, the combined examination of, by the urologist and the roentgenologist, Abstract, 133.
Uterus and contiguous organs with the combined use of radium and x-rays, technique and statistics in the treatment of carcinoma of the, Henry Schmitz, 662.
Cancer of the, surgical diathermy and radiotherapy in, Abstract, 838.
Fibromyoma of the, statistics and technique in the treatment of, by radiotherapy, James A. Corscaden, 812.
Myomata and metropathies of the, radiotherapy of, Abstract, 840.
With pregnancy intervening treated successfully by radium followed by delivery of a normal child, carcinoma of the, C. Everett Field, 657.

Value of interstitial radiation, the, Douglas Quick, 161.
Of roentgen therapy in dermatology, the, George M. MacKee and George C. Andrews, 241.
Van Allen, H. W., A new safety device, 745.
Van Nuys, Roscoe G., A protective glove rack, 314.
Van Zwaluwenburg, James G., The x-ray diagnosis of accessory sinusitis, 1.
Van Zwaluwenburg type of stereoscope, the, S. W. Donaldson and E. F. Merrill, 742.
Veils in the right hypochondrium and their differentiation from other organic lesions and spasm, Lewis Gregory Cole, 137.
Viol, Charles H., A comparison of radiation doses attainable by use of radium on and within tumors, 56.
Visceral adhesions and bands, Abstract, 842.

Warts, 248.
Waters, Charles A., MacCready, Paul B. and Hitchcock, Charles H., Roentgen-ray treatment of chronically infected tonsils and adenoids, 469.
Wave-length therapy, the scientific basis of short, Wm. Duane, 781.
What is the best method for the treatment of uterine fibromyomata by means of the roentgen rays? M. Beclere, 797.
Widmann, B. P. and Pfahler, George E., A case of tuberculous gingivitis treated with apparent success by radium, 756.
Wilsey, R. B., Some practical results with a Potter-Bucky diaphragm, 441.
The efficiency of the Bucky-diaphragm principle, 58.
Witherbee, W. D., The dosage and technique in the x-ray treatment of goiter, tuberculous glands of the neck, tonsils and adenoids, 514.
Wolfe, Allan Scott, Dental roentgenography in the light of clinical and pathological findings, 186.

X-ray and clinical findings in the normal chest (children six to ten years of age), National Tuberculosis Association, 537.
And radium treatment, the histological changes incident to, of uterine cancer, Abstract, 701.
And ultraviolet as physiologic complements in therapeusis: a newly established clinical treatment, C. M. Sampson, 570.
Diagnosis of accessory sinusitis, the, James G. Van Zwaluwenburg, 1.
Evidence of abdominal small intestinal states embodying an hypothesis of the transmission of gastro-intestinal tension, R. Walter Mills, 199.

X-ray, Examination of the gall-bladder region in every chronic abdomen, a plea for routine, Abstract, 132.
Spectra produced by different voltages, the, 395.
The, after the inflation of the pelvic cavity with carbon dioxide gas as an aid to obstetric and gynecologic diagnosis, Abstract, 701.
Therapy, the pathology and bacteriology of excised tonsils and the effect of, upon the bacterial flora of the tonsils, Abstract, 838.
Tube, the, 175.
X-ray, Tube, the auto-electronic discharge and its application to the construction of a new form of, J. E. Lilienfeld, 172.
Work, high voltage, W. D. Coolidge and W. K. Kearsley, Jr., 77.
X-rays, effects of small doses of, on hypertrophied tonsils and other lymphoid structures of the naso-pharynx, Abstract, 134.
Studies on decreasing the reaction of normal skin to destructive doses of, by pharmacological means, and on the mechanism involved, Abstract, 134.

PAUL B. HOEBER, 67-69 East 59th Street, New York